

The Triangle Club Sitemap

The goal of this site is complex. The purpose of this site is also complex. It's about showing information about the triangle club. The structure and components of the website would be as the sitemap above showed. The intended audience of the website are people who are interested in triangles that weren't sourced elsewhere. I'm the only one working on the website. The development process would be a top down approach starting from the navigation bar and going down from there. The website will be published on GitHub. The website will be tested in many ways. The website will be update and maintained on a weekly basis.
